

State of Vermont
Executive Department
A Proclamation

WHEREAS, Vermont is dedicated to being a leader in the use of clean energy, and through State policy, including Vermont's Comprehensive Energy Plan, recognizes vehicle electrification as an essential strategy for meeting the State's climate and energy goals; and

WHEREAS, the State has recently expanded funding for electric vehicle infrastructure through both investment in charging stations and purchase incentives for Vermont residents; and

WHEREAS, the transportation sector must continue adopting clean energy technology, including plug-in electric vehicles, which contributes to greater energy-security and supports a healthy environment and economy; and

WHEREAS, meeting Vermont's climate and energy goals will help make the state attractive to citizens, employers, workers, and tourists.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Philip B. Scott, Governor, hereby proclaim September 14-22, 2019 as in Vermont, call upon all Vermonters to join me in supporting the need to combat climate change and invest in sustainable transportation initiatives.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Vermont on this 14th day of September, A.D. 2019.
